- 1. The committee charter, as expressed in a memorandum from the Executive, was read to acquaint the openities with its responsibilities. The chairman claborated on the charter by expressing the need to coordinate overt and covert regulations into one organized manual.
- 25X1A9A was explained by Mr. _____ After a general introduction, he continued with a detailed explanation of a proposal of the covert committee for a CIA normal.
  - 3. Exception to the covert plan, which provided for nine general categories of issuences, was taken by the committee on the besis that the covert plan too closely paralleled agency organisation and this in turn led to conflicts in responsibilities.
  - 4. A plan for organizing iscuspes into an unlimited series of activity estegories was proposed and informally adopted by the committee. The plan provided that each activity, which emerged as a complete and separate proposal requiring definition, would in and of itself constitute a category. The issuances would include both Agency policy and procedure and would be cross-indexed to overall government rules and regulations.
    - 5. A decision was made to issue notices as a separate type of issuence.
  - 6. It was proposed that each activity entegory, as defined above, would receive a menual number and the pages of the issuance would be numbered consecutively to permit amendment of the issuance by insertion of new pages as changes occured.
    - 7. The following suggestions were not forth ral future committee discussion:
      - a. Rules to be adopted in preparation of immenses.
      - b. Notheds by which the committee would coordinate issuences.
      - c. Mechanics of distribution.

- 8. The next posting was scheduled for 1100, Monday, 18 April 1949, with subsequent meetings to be held at 1100 each successive Monday until the system of issuences is clearly defined and implemented.
- 9. At the next meeting, it was agreed that each macher would bring a list of activities requiring definition and issuance. Other engrestions to be discussed at the next meeting would include:
  - a. Security classification of the marmual.
